THE FOUR STORKS OF SHAW LAKE

By HENRY THOMPSON

The huge white birds, floating on the dark green waters of the lake in the evening, innocently preening their feathers created much discussion in camp. Not a ripple of wind to disturb the panoramic beauty of the picture. Shadows of the forest reflected upside down far across the placid waters, intensified the pure white coloring of these big birds.

I argued they were pelicans, my fellow workers declared they were swans. The distance away was nearly a half mile. Finally, in sheer desperation, I decided to get a close-up view and settle the argument. So I followed the shore line far up on the bank, through heavy poplar and willows, crept within eighty yards of their usual resting place. We were all wrong, and I especially was disappointed that I could have made an error. The birds were the famous legendary storks, the first I have ever seen alive.

The birds in a close-up view, can not be called beautiful, their powerful, long curved necks and long sword-like beaks, give them a grotesque appearance. They are exactly as the books picture them except that these birds had no babies in their long rapier sharp beaks.

I am a little past the Santa Claus stage of believing and never credited the stork story much anyway as I was born on an unusually rough March day. No bird of such proportions could survive an Alberta winter, far less keep up a scheduled delivery of infant cargo.

Seeing these birds have shocked my sense of values. The birds could each deliver quintuplets. Fierce looking, and arrogant enough to deliver to the wrong addresses, which sometimes happens. No doubt the infant perfections that are a mother's pride and joy and grow up to be the next door neighbors terror and cross to bear, are the malicious work of these snow white ugly creatures called storks.

The furore that happened in town and placed the authorities all on the spot, may be a case in point.

The stork, in my opinion, has not the appearance of a kindly, good tempered bird. It might be well for the unsuspecting mother to examine closely and carefully the six or nine pounds of infant perfection, handled by these cross grained birds of snow white plumage. The baby may have been wrongly addressed or been contaminated in transit, could develop traits of behaviour and habit, unsuspected by the blind adulation of mother love.

Maybe the neighbor does have some ground for grievance in the near teen-age boy. Believe me, a close-up view of a real stork has explained many of my own cantankerous ingrained misdemeanours, till now unaccountable.

NOT SO LOUD, MISTER—During a rehearsal of the RCAF Band in Toronto, little Mike McVeigh of Toronto, volunteered his services as a bass drummer but abandoned the idea in favor of his ear drums when he found the volume of the recorder bass horn, played by Flight Sergeant W. Boyce, of Richmond Hill, Ont., too much for his musician's temperament. The only one of its kind in Canada, the recorder bass horn is capable of great volume as can be seen by its effect on the young listener. (Fathers, please note). The RCAF Band, comprising 75 musicians selected from the Training Command and Tactical Air Group Bands, have been engaged as the feature concert band for this year's Canadian National Exhibition and will give a series of 28 concerts, commencing August 22nd, and marking the first time a Canadian band has held the CNE spotlight in many years. Also featured will be a chorus of airwomen who will render vocal selections to round out the programs and which should prove enjoyable for all lovers of music.

GRAIN SAMPLING—An important step in the inspection of western grain is the use of the sampling spear. This is a tubular implement with a second tube inside. Both tubes have a number of openings down their sides which coincide when the inner tube is revolved to the "open" position. The implement is driven deep into the grain and the inner tube is opened thus allowing grain at various depths to enter. The spear is then closed and withdrawn and the grain it contains is deposited on a tarpaulin by holding the spear in a horizontal position and revolving the inner tube. This procedure is repeated spearing various places in the boxcar—particularly in the four corners. The grain on the tarpaulin is then mixed giving a representative sample of all the grain in the boxcar. The sample goes to the Inspection Division of the Board of Grain Commissioners and is there inspected and a grade declared as required by the Canada Grain Act.

C.P.R. VICE-PRESIDENT MEETS DIESEL PIONEER: A college thesis was responsible for a long delayed meeting in Montreal recently between the Russian scientist who designed and built the world's first diesel-electric locomotive (shown above) and the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The story began when N. R. Crump (right), now vice-president of the C.P.R., was studying for his Bachelor of Science degree at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and was renewed in 1936 while Mr. Crump was locomotive foreman at Moose Jaw, Sask., and was working on his thesis for his Mechanical Engineer's degree. His subject, "Internal Combustion Engines in the Railroad Field," was one that required a study of facts that were almost unobtainable at that time. Mr. Crump turned to the reports of Dr. George Vladimir Lomonosoff (left), a Russian mechanical engineer who had designed a diesel locomotive as early as 1909, and had one in operation in 1923, to get the information he needed. The 76-year-old Dr. Lomonosoff, whose son is a resident engineer with the Montreal Locomotive Works, has been living so quietly in Montreal for the past two years, that it was only recently that Mr. Crump learned of his presence in the city and arranged an interview. Modern C.P.R. diesel-electric locomotive built by the Montreal Locomotive Works is shown in the picture behind Dr. Lomonosoff and Mr. Crump.

IT'S THE LAW

SGT. L. B. NICHOLSON,

Traffic Division, Edmonton City Police Department

It's true that we never know the true value of anything until we have to do without it, and this is most certainly true about your driver's license. We go along day after day, never giving our driver's license a single thought . . . never realizing just how valuable that little certificate really is . . . until suddenly you find out that you have committed an offence and your driving privilege is cancelled and your driver's license taken from you. Few people who drive a motor vehicle know that it's quite easy to lose your driver's license through suspension and those who have lost it through this manner will certainly tell you it's not always so easy to have it reinstated. Most drivers know that they are liable to lose their driving privilege if convicted of speeding . . . but do you know that there are several other offences for which a person's license may be suspended? These offences are listed under Section 124 of the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act and this Section is now quoted.

124 (1) The Minister shall suspend the driver's or chauffeur's license and the registration of every motor vehicle registered in the name of a person, who by an order, judgment or conviction of a court, magistrate or justice of the peace in the Province has been convicted of any of the following offences or violations of the law, or who, having been arrested for any such offence or violation, has forfeited his bail, namely:

- (a) Driving a motor vehicle on a highway at an unreasonable rate of speed in contravention of sub-section (1) of section 42 if injury to property in excess of seventy-five dollars or to any person occurs in connection therewith;
- (b) Driving a motor vehicle on a highway at a rate of speed greater than sixty-miles per hour in contravention of subsection (1a) of section 42 if injury to property in excess of seventy-five dollars or to any person occurs in connection therewith;
- (c) Driving a motor vehicle upon a highway in a race or upon a bet or wager contrary to the provisions of section 67 if injury to property in excess of seventy-five dollars or to any person occurs in connection therewith;
- (d) Driving a motor vehicle on a highway in a careless manner contrary to section 66a if injury to property in excess of seventy-five dollars or to any person occurs in connection therewith;
- (e) Upon the occurrence of an accident failing to return to the scene of the accident or otherwise contravening any of the provisions of section 58 if injury to property in excess of seventy-five dollars or to any person occurs in connection therewith;

- (f) Driving a motor vehicle on a highway without a driver's or chauffeur's license in contravention of any of the provisions of this Act if injury to property in excess of seventy-five dollars or to any person occurs in connection therewith;
- (g) An offence under section 285 of the Criminal Code of Canada and amendments thereto or manslaughter committed by a person in charge of a motor vehicle.

Egg Lake News Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Al L'Heureux, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Tardiff, made the trip to Adanac, Sask., recently to visit at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rudiger.

On Sunday, Sept. 7, Mrs. Irene Peterson and Miss Della Huppie gave a shower party in honor of their sister, Vina Huppie, who is getting married on September 16. Sixty-eight persons were present and a good time was enjoyed by all. Numerous gifts were presented to the future bride.

Bees make good honey when they stay in their hives, but when they decide to swarm, they can be a nuisance, especially when they decide to make their home in chimneys. On Sunday, September 7, a fire was made in the heater in church and instead of the smoke going up the chimney, it came down, and windows and doors had to be opened. Then the bees started to come inside the church. Nobody has found a way to dislodge them yet. It may be necessary to build a scaffold, as the chimney is quite high.

Mrs. L. G. Amiot made a business trip to Edmonton lately.

Prize Money Returned To Crippled Children's Fund

BON ACCORD — The rain and muddy roads on Friday, August 29, hurt the attendance at the CFRN Barn Dance. However, it didn't dampen the spirits of the crowd which enjoyed the old-time music and dancing.

Mr. Wright, jovial master of ceremonies with the orchestra, kept everyone on the hop! Three sets entered the square dance competition. Winners were in set No. 2, with dancers, Mr. and Mrs. Slim Rodney, Miss Doreen Samis and Lionel Berard, Miss Raymonde Berard and Gil Lusier, Miss Sylvia Burbank and Ken MacDonald.

Second prize honors went to a set of young folks from Namao.

It was a treat to watch the square dancers in action. They kept perfect time to the music and followed the "caller's" directions. The winners, like good sports, turned the prize money back to the Crippled Children's fund.

Here's wishing the team "good luck" when they enter the finals in Edmonton later in the season.

BURTONSVILLE —

Mary Ann Muschell is taking Grade 10 in Edmonton this year. Due to the heavy rain, it was impossible for her to leave by car so she put a few necessities in a suitcase and started the sixty mile trip on a Ford tractor. Stanley MacDougall took her to Stuart Ilsen's. From there she could phone her grandparents and continue to the city more comfortably in a car.

"I put away my hard-earned money"

This young bank depositor recently wrote to his bank manager:

"I made a goal of $1,000 for this year."

It is two years since I opened the account with two dollars. I owe thanks to you that I put away my hard-earned money where it will benefit me . . . I do not wish to touch it for the time being."

Building up a bank account means work and sacrifice. But Canadians know the value of having savings handy in time of opportunity or need: they maintain 7½ million savings accounts in the chartered banks—almost twice as many as ten years ago. At the same time bank staffs have almost doubled. That, and higher wages, have increased bank payrolls almost three times.

More people use the banks, more people work for the banks than ever before.

A Striking Contrast

On Monday night of last week, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada attended the football game in Edmonton with Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta. While the Alberta premier held the ball, the aging prime minister (70 years old) gave it the best kick he could, which resulted in what the sports writers term a "dribble".

The thought of a Social Credit premier holding the ball for a Liberal prime minister gave Mr. St. Laurent the idea for a wise crack. Substance of this was that in Ottawa he usually feels that he is holding the ball for the provincial premiers to kick at!

This all makes for a good-fellow feeling among Canadians and we can hardly imagine any Canadian government leader, on whatever level of local, provincial or federal politics he happens to be, refusing to take part in a football kick-off.

Readers will remember, however, that last fall—a year ago—His Royal Highness, Duke of Edinburgh, Consort to Queen Elizabeth, flatly refused to kick-off in the football game put on for the Royal visitors. Evidently the Prince felt he was too good to identify himself with the common football player. The attitude of a Royal Prince who can take no credit for personal achievement for his success is a striking contrast to the attitudes of men who have risen in public life to positions of honor and responsibility by their own hard work.

Whether we like to admit it or not, the Canadian way of life has little or no place in it for nose-snubbing royalty. Perhaps the only reason we tolerate it at all is that it is so many miles away from us and seldom bothers to come here and inspect its "subjects".

It Might Have Been

Last month the dominion bureau of statistics issued its estimate of grain production in Canada. The total works out to about 1,446,000,000 bushels of grain for the nation and 1,302,000,000 bushels for the prairie provinces.

In the years when the speculative system of grain marketing was in full swing, the announcement of such enormous production would be calamitous. If past experience is any criterion, markets would "nose-dive" and farmers would go into the harvest season with worried brows.

In past years farmers always disliked to hear estimates of record crop production. They knew what such news-stories would do to the market. Last week's government estimates, however, did not cause a ripple of excitement among farm people. They know that the Wheat Board initial price has been fixed and support levels, even although they are quite modest, are in effect on oats and barley.

It is past experience that has caused the great majority of grain producers in Western Canada to cling to the Wheat Board. In the plebiscite held in Manitoba last autumn, in which 67 per cent of the eligible farmers voted, 89 per cent voted in favor of the Wheat Board marketing their oats and barley.

Note and Comment

In Canada the potato acreage this year totals 294,000 compared with 284,900 last year, an increase of 3 per cent.

Shipments of grain from the lakehead in the 1951-52 crop year (with one week remaining), totalling 410 million bushels, were the second heaviest on record. In the 1944-45 crop year lake shipments amounted to 490.2 million bushels.

Ordinarily the railway companies have a large supply of grain cars in Manitoba when harvesting starts. The situation is different this year, as most boxcars are in Saskatchewan and Alberta in an effort by the railways to ease congestion in those two provinces.

Those D.P.'s

No one would argue about the fact that Canada needs more people, must have them, indeed, if the nation's resources are to be developed and the nation is to fulfill her destiny.

Yet one hears murmurings across the land on the part of some Canadians that those D.P.'s are taking jobs that rightfully belong to native-born men and women. Such an attitude merely indicates superficial thinking from a selfish point of view.

It is true, perhaps, that there are individual, perhaps isolated cases of newcomers from Europe or other parts of this continent obtaining jobs that Canadians might well regard as theirs. But in the nation-wide picture the fact is that the more new-Canadians arrive in our land, the more jobs there will be, for these men and women and their families require food and housing and, in time, all the other things that Canadians today regard as necessities. Thus markets are extended for both farm and manufactured products, making for greater work opportunities.

The very term "Displaced Person" has come, unfortunately, to have a tinge of disapprobation. It is time it were dropped in referring to people from other lands who come to Canada to make their home.

Not so long ago we overheard a bit of beefing because Indians were being employed on a certain construction job. The Indians were spoken of as D.P.'s. That of course is very funny for who has more right to the term Canadian than the descendants of the tribes here long before the white man appeared on the scene?

Looking back a bit in our history, we find that Canada as we know it was built by men and women from old lands of Europe and Asia. And Canadians today who look askance at the arrival of immigrants forget that they, too, are the descendants of earlier D.P.s.

Canada's population is a mixture of nationalities and from that mixture is arising a nation not quite like any that exists or ever has existed. Canada is young. Confederation is only a short 85 years old; and the evolution from colonial status to nationhood gained momentum only since World War I.

Newcomers, D.P.'s, are bringing with them to our land new skills, new ideas, a willingness to work hard, an ardent desire to participate in the freedoms and opportunities for development that are ours.

Canadians must welcome them, help them to become assimilated. And Canada must have millions more men and women from crowded Great Britain and European countries, from the United States and perhaps, from Asia to people our vast empty spaces and to help us build a great nation in the northern part of this continent.

But let's stop calling these new citizens D.P.'s; let's call them what they are, new Canadians.

The Law Pokes Along

(From the Calgary Albertan)

More than twenty-one months ago a natural gas explosion at Leduc took several lives and injured several other persons. Within a short time law-suits were started on behalf of the killed and the injured. Now it is announced from Edmonton that "it is not expected that any of them will go to trial before early next year," that is, until at least twenty-six months after the accident.

In the meantime what are the claimants supposed to live on? Not one cent has been paid to them in all this time, even those who were deprived of their entire livelihood.

If civil actions are usually stalled as this one has been, then justice is indeed pretty deficient in Alberta. The responsible branches of the judicial machinery ought to be ashamed of themselves. Why can't these things be cleared up in reasonable time?

Voice of the People

FROM GAY PAREE

We are four very handsome Canadian airmen on leave in Paris. And we might as well tell you girls back home that you don't rate when it comes to these Parisian beauties. Don't even bother writing us any more, girls, now that we've seen these beautiful mamselles.

THE DASHING FOUR.

WHAT THEY REJECTED

You say in an editorial (Aug. 15th) that in the recent voting Albertans generally condone the poor roads . . . , that they "do not want a reduction in municipal taxes," and that they "turned down rural electrification with interest free loans."

If this is true, then they turned down much more than that. With respect to the last item above, the CCF proposed public power lines free of charge. The CCF also proposed $10 a year car and health insurance.

However, the people who voted SC probably believe Manning will yet do the best possible on these matters and the Premier now has big money behind him to help perpetuate this idea at election time.

It should be more thoroughly shown that Manning has never yet kept a set of election promises. He uses them for vote catching, and after the election we get only excuses. He did not keep his 1948 promises re reduced taxes, municipal aid, power, farm stability, etc., and he will not keep his 1952 promises either.

This is because Social Credit is now on such good terms with people such as the "big oil producers" who, as quoted by Time, Aug. 12, 1952, "approve of Manning's handling of Alberta's rich oil resources."

If the oil producers approve, the rest of us have grounds for disapproval. When this becomes more generally realized, then the voters will make it more clear what they are really "turning down."

And in Lac Ste. Anne, the majority have already turned thumbs down on Manning, by a score of 3027 to 1639 on the first count. Especially to those 1878 who gave the CCF their support on the first, second and third counts, go my most sincere thanks, and the promise that so long as Manning continues to put big business interests ahead of ours, so long will we keep up the fight against him.

Old age pensions go to all at age 70. Yet, all the poor souls born in Canada up to now can look forward to a life expectancy of less than 70 years. Besides, the baby bonus quits at 16 and the O.A.P. doesn't start until 54 years later. How are we going to get along in the meantime? Social security? Bah! What we need is Social Credit, plenty of money and no work.

DAILY BAPTISMS

To curb moral delinquency and help the moral rearmament program let the public know there are churches they may join and be baptized any day. This is too important to be relegated to one day a week. Joining a church is a personal matter between the person and God. It does not have to be a public affair. Many people are self-conscious about doing things in public and do not join.

The Care of Farm-Stored Grain

The farmers of Western Canada are faced with the problem of storing a considerable portion of the 1952 crop on the farm, probably for long periods. Is your granary ready for the safe storage of this year's crop?

Facing Facts. As yet, the only practical means of insuring the keeping quality of grain is to store it at a sufficiently low moisture content to prevent spoiling. The fact is that uniformly dry grain (13 per cent moisture or lower for wheat, oats, barley and rye; and 10 per cent moisture or lower for flax) will not spoil, providing it is stored in a clean weatherproof, well-ventilated granary. Bin your grain as dry as possible.

Preparing that Granary. Here are some practical suggestions from Dr. H. E. Gray, Head, Stored Product Insect Investigations, Ottawa. (1) A granary with a wooden floor above the ground is best for farm storage. (2) If the granary floor is concrete, cover it with moisture proof paper. (3) Repair leaky roofs, windows, and doors to exclude rain and snow. (4) Clean walls and floors thoroughly. Sprinkle a little hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it about to fill cracks. (5) If insects or mites were present last year, coat the inside walls with whitewash containing one-quarter of a pound of lye per gallon. (6) Fill the granary to the plate only. Ample space between the grain surface and the roof must be provided for ventilation. (7) Open bins or piles are risky. If at all possible, place on well-drained ground on two or three feet of thoroughly dry straw. Piles should be uniform cones.

If you have to store "tough" or green weed-infested grain, put it in small bins. Examine it frequently, and market it as soon as possible. If trouble develops, consult your local elevator Agent, or write to Officer-in-Charge, Stored Product Insect Investigations, Canada Department of Agriculture, Winnipeg or Ottawa.

131 Bushels Said Wheat Yield

LONDON—A wheat crop of 131 bushels to the acre, believed to be a world record, has been claimed by John Turrell, a farmer in the Wigganhall St. Mary district of Norfolk.

The yield was harvested from a strip of land of approximately nine acres, formerly an orchard and seeded to wheat for the first time this year.

The huge crop represents more than three times the average acreage yield in Britain. The previous highest known yield was 114 bushels reported from The Netherlands last year.

Colonel C. A. Debenham of King's Lynn, who provided the seed, said the strain sown was known as Hybrid 46, a lower-quality grain used mainly for biscuits. He ascribed the phenomenal yield to the richness of the soil and first-class farming.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I am in love with a man who has asked me to marry him but I am hesitating about accepting him because he has been married before and I am afraid that he is still in love with his divorced wife. She has not remarried and I do not know why they parted. Do you think that if I married him he would forget his ex-wife or do you think I am making a mistake by thinking of marrying him?

Answer:

You do not say why you think he is still in love with his former wife, but you must have some good reason for believing that to be true. If he is, I am afraid that you will be building up unhappiness for yourself by such a marriage and I should not rush into it hastily if I were you. It may be that he is lonesome and unhappy and is turning to you on the rebound.

Of course, there are cases where young people rush into marriage before they realize what it is all about and are not happy until they do separate.

But you should be able to judge your young man's feelings by the way he behaves and what he says.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am a widow with three small children and a man ten years older than I has proposed to me. He is very considerate of me and seems devoted to the children. The children like him too but my mother says that we are all getting along well staying with father and her and she doesn't see why I want to risk another unhappy marriage.

But this man and my first husband are very different people. My husband was very gay and irresponsible and we never knew whether the bills would be paid or not.

What do you think?

MRS. G. L.

Answer:

There is certainly no sense in judging all men by one who was lacking in good traits. And, if this man loves you and your children and can provide you with a nice home you and your children's lives will be more normal and happier it seems to me, than they are living with your parents.

You will certainly have more time to give to your children if your husband is paying the bills than you will if you have to work outside the home.

LOUISA.

B. G.

What's In The Name?

BEISEKER

Named after Thomas L. Beiseker, banker, of Fessenden, North Dakota, who lived in the area for 10 years and was largely responsible for the settlement of the region with successful farmers.

The village of Beiseker is situated in a farming region some 41 miles west of Drumheller. The population in 1946 was 272.

ATHABASCA

The town of Athabasca, 100 miles north of Edmonton, has a population of around 1,063 people. The main type of occupation carried on within the area is mixed farming.

Athabasca town changed its name from Athabasca Landing in 1904. The name was derived from an Indian word "caupawin", a Cree name meaning "landing."

In reference to the Athabasca river, when the Indian spoke the word "Athabasca" he meant "the place where there are reeds." When probably he also mentioned the word "Athabasca", he had in mind the muddy delta of that river.

As early as 1849 the R.C. Church opened a mission in the district, but it was not until 1865 that a trading post was established and named Athabasca Landing. The actual history goes back to 1862 when it was the Hudson's Bay Company Reserve. Goods were trailed in from Fort Edmonton at the time.

Between 1900 and 1914 there

In the meantime someone put her shopping bag beside mine, when I came back, I noticed an extra parcel in my shopping bag. I picked it up, and it unwrapped and fell out, I stared at it—and then I said—who in the heck! Just then an old lady came along and picked it up and said, "it's mine. She had misplaced it, I really was embarrassed—You see, it was a big pair of bloomers!"

MRS. BILL WOGIL.

When I was reading a book at noon hour in school, one of my friends came up quietly and hit me on the head with a broom and then ran outside. I quickly grabbed another broom and stood by the door ready to hit when he would come in. I heard footsteps, and then the door opened. Whack! But who did I just about hit but my teacher. were so many traders operating out of Athabasca Landing, as it was known, that five boats plied the river to McMurray.

The first train arrived from Edmonton in 1912 and the people who went out to cheer it, went out again the next year to fight a fire which nearly destroyed the entire town of Athabasca.

WD TRACTION BOOSTER

Gives You More Work Power

When you set the hydraulic lever on the WD Tractor, you can add as much as a thousand pounds of weight on the rear tractor wheels.

As the drawbar load increases, the hydraulic system uses the weight of the implement plus the weight of the soil to bear down on the wheels. Location of the implement behind the tractor gives it leverage, which multiplies implement weight at the tractor axle.

It's entirely automatic. The tractor selects the amount of weight needed. And it's all a part of the complete WD hydraulic system—no extra equipment.

Stop in and let us show you how the WD will do drawbar jobs which ordinarily require a much heavier tractor.

Scripture Meditations

By AINSLEY BLAIR

"Till heaven and earth pass," said Jesus, "one jot or one tittle shall in nowise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." By His own obedience to the law, Christ testified to its immutable character, and proved that through His grace it could be perfectly obeyed by every son and daughter of Adam. On the mount He declared that not the smallest iota should pass from the law till all things should be accomplished—all things that concern the human race, all that relates to the plan of redemption. He does not teach that the law is ever to be abrogated, but He fixes the eye upon the utmost verge of man's horizon, and assures us that until this point is reached, the law will retain its authority, so that none may suppose it was His mission to abolish the precepts of the law. So long as heaven and earth continue, the holy principles of God's law will remain. His righteousness, like the great mountains' (Psalm 36:6), will continue, a source of blessing, sending forth streams to refresh the earth."

"Thoughts From the Mount of Blessing."

NEW EDMONTON BRIDGE SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

EDMONTON — Preliminary discussions opened last week between the city and the provincial government on a proposed new $4,000,000 six-lane high level bridge over the North Saskatchewan river at Edmonton.

The meeting, between City Commissioner D. B. Menzies and Highways Minister Gordon Taylor was described as "co-operative". The talks were aimed primarily at acquainting Mr. Taylor with the city's bridge situation, as the minister was not in the cabinet at the time of the former discussions.

Re-opening of the talks was suggested at a recent council meeting by Ald. Duncan Innes, who asked council to approach the province on what contribution it would make toward construction of a new bridge.

The present High Level Bridge has been described as inadequate for Edmonton's increasing cross-river traffic. Suggestions have been made both for conversion of the top deck of the bridge, at a cost of $3,000,000, to permit vehicular traffic, and for erection of a new bridge entirely.
